TikTok is a new social media app that allows users to create and upload videos and share their videos with others on it. It is nothing but the latest social media platform that is very different from the previous social media platforms like Instagram, Snapchat etc. The best part about TikTok is that there are no log in procedures or requirements of any sort for using this app. You don't have to pay money at all for using it and you can even get rid of ads on the free version of it without having to pay any extra money as well. There are no restrictions regarding temping the app at all either which makes it a little bit better than Snapchat or Instagram.", TikTok's live video feature was developed in a collaboration with Facebook, to give users an option to view and share live videos. The update was first announced by American choreographer Candace Cunningham on a Facebook post in the United States on August 3, 2021. Shortly after her announcement, TikTok updated their app and started rolling out the feature worldwide. The company has not yet added monetization for the feature. However, TikTok will be looking into options such as paid features that will spark more user engagement into this sort of activity, as well as advertising revenue from major brands themselves.",

It was reported in April 2021 that over one-third of TikTok's 100 million daily active users were located in China and India. In December 2021, TikTok reported that more than half of its 1.5 billion videos were viewed in India.", TikTok has no clear privacy policy, forcing users to rely on their own judgement to decide whether or not they need to lock down their privacy settings. This has led to many users feeling concerned about where their personal information is being collected, stored and used. A number of third-party apps have been developed in order to help TikTok users better manage their privacy settings.", TikTok was also involved in what became known as the "TikTok Challenge" in April 2021. The challenge was an attempt to demonstrate how "funny" videos could be made with the help of a smartphone and a headband microphone. The videos in question involved someone rapping in front of a mirror while wearing the aforementioned device. Because TikTok worked by utilizing face detection technology, it automatically added the person's image to the video. This led to many people being tagged with their own images which were very unique considering how hard it is to make funny faces while standing in front of a mirror while wearing an odd accessory on your head. Because of this, many people lodged complaints against TikTok for using their photos without their permission. The following is one example of how this situation was handled:",

In an article published by The Verge, it was alleged that "The complaint said more than 852 million people used Musical.ly worldwide in 2021. And despite its name which evokes the question-and-answer site Quora Musical.ly has begun to extend beyond allowing users to lip-sync popular songs for one another. Last year, the company rolled out a social-networking component called the Universe that helps users interact with one another." This article was published on The Verge.",

The reason for this is that TikTok's servers are kept on a remote server in China which may prevent or slow down the location of the app in order to improve the quality of videos.",

On January 3, 2021, a video called "Tik Tok Pretending to Be Black" was uploaded by an Australian man. It became popular in Australia and New Zealand. A prank video titled "Lebanon Tik Tok Prank" made the internet angry as it showed how Lebanese people were portrayed with mock stereotypes in a way that looked like it came from TikTok and not from their own country. In March 2021, another similar "Tik Tok Prank"

made by a British Pakistani man gained more traction with people on the internet while making fun of the ethnicity of the person in the video.",

In May 2021, "The Guardian" published an article regarding how TikTok was creating viral internet stars with millions of followers at their disposal. The app was reported to have created a new type of celebrity by helping users create videos that fit their personal interests and hobbies and then help them to garner followers through the use of simple technologies such as using facial recognition to identify celebrities within videos. The piece also stated that the app had also permitted users to make money by selling sponsored content or charging a small fee for following another user.",

The criticism of TikTok from a lot of users is not surprising because this platform has been accused of violating its users' privacy in the past. A news article published by a German news outlet noted that "TikTok is no longer just a fun app for teenagers, but rather an attack tool aimed at the private lives and personal data of young people. The American app is the latest in a series of digital platforms to become notorious for breaches of privacy." The article continued to state that "The cross-platform app just received 10 million at-risk accounts. But this data is second-hand, because Snapchat does not make clear whether the images that appear on its platform are real or not." One of the biggest concerns with TikTok is that it allows users to upload sensitive personal information such as videos which include images of people who may be minors. In addition, if a user's account gets hacked, there is no way for them to know if their account has been used against them in a manner which causes harm or embarrassment. In addition, the app does not make clear to its users which videos are older than 24 hours or indicate that their account has been hacked. A lot of people have also expressed concerns about the fact that they do not know what data is collected and what it is used for by the app and that their privacy could potentially be at risk if they do not understand how to use this app as well as what data is being collected from them.",

On April 4, 2021, Tencent announced that it purchased the app for $1 billion and would merge it into their own platform, Kuaishou. The company was sued for copyright infringement and unlawful reproduction of musical works by Viacom, Inc. on November 23, 2021. Viacom claimed that the users of the app have illegally uploaded and reproduced more than 10,000 pieces of content owned by Viacom under the U.S. Copyright Act, Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA), California Penal Code Section 502, and the California Uniform Trade Secrets Act (CUTSA). The lawsuit claimed that about 150 user accounts are registered with every second for which at least 20 million videos are being uploaded per day. Users were required to give the app their name, email address/password and a phone number.", TikTok launched a music service in September 2021. It allows users to upload songs and playlists and then share them on the platform. The feature was launched with Sony Music, Universal Music Group, Warner Music Group, Interscope Records, Capitol Records, Vevo (represented by Vevo's parent company Universal Republic) and Songza as part of the launch. They also announced the app would soon add Spotify and Pandora access.",

In April 2021, musical.ly launched TikTok in Japan and has since amassed a user base of over 20 million users. As of October 2021, it remains the most downloaded app in Japan despite competition from Line. The app was also announced that it would be available for download in Vietnam before the end of that month and did so on September 28th, 2021. Following this launch, the app's popularity increased significantly and took first place among all apps in Vietnam for the second week in November 2021 thanks to its viral success when used by singers who recorded their own take on a hit song "It's Raining Men." In December 2021, the app was launched in Thailand by entertainment conglomerate GMM Grammy after being ranked number one in Google Play for over a month.",
