In March 2021, the musical.ly team revealed plans to launch their own short-form video service called "tiktok" based on existing features from musical.ly within Q2 2021. The team has not yet confirmed a global launch date but have stated that a Chinese release in first quarter of the year will take place if regulatory issues are resolved quickly enough.", TikTok FYP has been created by Kevin Wu and Robert Chuang as a student project at the University of Houston in 2021. They had previously created another app, MaxClips, which was presented at SXSW 2021 in Austin. The release of TikTok FYP was funded by a program run by the Texas Emerging Technology Fund (TEDF).",

In March 2021, it was reported that a Chinese man named Li traveled to Hong Kong in order to euthanize his mother. He used the TikTok app's "Selfie Scoring" feature to rate her on how well she resembled a photo of a female model. The article goes on to say that the average age of death for those who took their own lives with this method was 18 years old, and that "the suicide score"™ accounts for the fact that they are unlikely to live out their lives with a score less than zero.", TikTok is owned by the Chinese company ByteDance, which also owns the short video platform Musical.ly. Many people have noted the similarities between the two platforms, with some stating that TikTok is simply a clone of its older sibling. This sentiment has led some people to ask whether or not TikTok was simply a copycat app that was created in an attempt to gain success from Musical.ly's early popularity in China and elsewhere in Asia. Some have even gone as far as to suggest that Musical.ly was the app that inspired TikTok. The following is an image of the two apps side by side, which clearly highlights some of their similarities.",

In December 2021, TikTok announced that it was suspending all operations in Japan after a request for a ban by Japan's telecommunications watchdog. The order was due to the fact that the company was not yet registered as a company in the country. Following this development, it is unknown as to whether or not Japan will become one of the countries that has banned the app completely.", Musical.ly is not a music streaming subscription service. The app is available for the iOS and Android operating systems. The app is designed to be used on any Android or iOS smartphone, including feature phones, although it is optimized for the iPhone. Users can also download both apps on their computer via Android and iOS browsers with Java support; however, this version of the app is unable to upload or share videos, and the download size of both apps ranges from 431MB to over 600MB depending on operating system and patch release.",

This is considered by some experts to be unfair because it requires subscribers (which are estimated to be over 100 million) to pay just so they can be allowed to post their own content onto the platform. The fact that this feature can be used to prevent people from sharing content which they should be allowed to post has also concerned some users. Another concern with this particular aspect of TikTok's business model is that it may be a violation of the app's terms and conditions as well as the policies of any app stores where TikTok is installed. To access TikTok, a user must agree to the app's terms and conditions when they have downloaded it onto their device. For example, users on both Google Play and the Apple Store agree not only to allow TikTok to access their location but also "to use your name, likeness, and voice in connection with commercial, sponsored or related content ("endorsements"), either identified or anonymous. You agree that if you wish for your Content to remain anonymous, or your public profile does not contain your real name, you will not use your real name in connection with any Endorsements." This suggests that a user may be required to pay in order to retain their anonymity while posting videos on TikTok (this is because the app may ask them to use their real name and/or add other details such as their age while posting their video). The term "endorsement" (as defined by the Oxford dictionary) means: "the action of publicly expressing approval and support of somebody/something by a gesture (such as a wave or an item of clothing) or words. The act of publicly advertising a product or service by an individual or organization."",

The biggest benefit for users is having a place to share their wants, needs and daily activities. Moreover, it has a feature called "FYP" that helps users answer their questions using Tiktok through text messaging. It has won numerous awards: Most Innovative Mobile App (2021), Best Entertainment App (2021) and Best Mobile Culture App (2021).",

Recently, TikTok has announced to have a new feature where users can now translate their favourite music videos on the app into different languages. TikTok also wants to broaden its capabilities of providing different types of content to its users through various features such as music translation and easy collaboration between artists from different parts of the world. According to an official press release from TikTok, "the company believes that music is a universal language and by incorporating translation features and intuitive collaborations it aims to connect with international users by breaking language barriers.â€• This is just one of the many ways that TikTok is trying to make its app more appealing to users, and maybe even compete with other social media apps.",

The only remaining question is whether TikTok can continue to grow into a brand that people trust like WeChat in China. Many users of the app have openly voiced their concerns about this, worrying that the app may develop a reputation for being more like Facebook than Instagram (which is more closely related to Twitter). If this turns out to be true, then TikTok may see a dip in share price.",

In August 2021, Musical.ly announced a partnership with the National Music Publishers Association (NMPA) to promote and protect the rights of American songwriters' publishing royalties, providing them with legal assistance regarding digital licensing of their songs for use on platforms such as Musical.ly.", Older accounts can still watch user-generated videos, however they can not create or share any of their own. They are instead limited to just viewing what other people are posting through the app's various features. TikTok is available for download on iOS and Android platforms. Released in Japan, the first version of "TikTok" was optimized for iOS devices. Subsequently, it was released worldwide as a non-Japanese version named "TiK".",

On September 21, 2021, both parties agreed to settle their dispute by making payment to Musical.ly. Snapchat acknowledged that it had copied some of Musical.ly's features but did not admit to copyright infringement. In February 2021, it was revealed that TikTok had reached a deal with Chinese search engine Baidu to launch a new feature called "Selfie Scoring". The photo filter feature is activated by users pressing the "Camera" button on their app which takes a selfie photo and gives immediate feedback for the degree of fidelity to the typical ideal body ideal presented by research studies while also using facial recognition technology to rate how well or poorly they met this criteria. These ratings are accompanied by a star rating on the app's interface itself and can be seen through each user's account page on TikTok's website.",

In an article published on The Guardian, it claimed that "The app has become so popular in recent years that, in some countries, it is capable of generating more revenue than the country's top five music streaming services combined." It continued by stating that "TikTok saw a peak of eight billion video views per day across hundreds of millions of active users in February 2021 – giving it a larger market share than YouTube for several days at the beginning of the year." This article was published on The Guardian.",
